

We are looking for a

Backend / System Development Engineer

to maintain and improve our Linux based systems, solutions (hardware, platform, application).

What you can expect:

- Design and implement automated installation procedures
- Take your part in the development of our existing systems, which are widely used in stores across Europe, Russia and the United States.
- Design, implement, integrate and test the back-end part of complex systems
- Maintain and refactor existing softwares and installations

What we expect:

- 3+ years system development experience on Linux
- 2+ years in Python
- Good scripting skills (mainly bash)
- Linux networking
- Knowledge in writing automated / integration tests
- Write high-quality, maintainable, reusable, documented code
- Familiarity with GIT, REST, Agile, Kanban, CI systems
- Good communication skills, precision, capability to work in a team
- Innovative attitude, interest in new solutions, open to use new technologies

Advantage:

- C knowledge
- Linux kernel module development
- Experience with debian packaging and build systems
- Good system debugging skills

We offer:

- Outstanding benefits package and bonus scheme
- Varied, challenging and exciting tasks
- Modern environment, nice team spirit and office

Location of work: Budapest

If you are interested in the position and meet the requirements, please send your extended cv with professional references, and reference works to office@aiss.hu.